

Mission to Africa, Khulwanda, Kenya

Monday afternoon, February 15, 2010

Open Air Crusade held at End Time Harvest Church

Casey:

You know how we are to live a life of faith and just trust in God always... Well, I found out just how that feels again tonight. Right after lunch Tony informed me that I was going to preach again tonight. What! I never get two nights in a row what am I going to say? There is only a half hour before the meeting. Ok God I am counting on you fully for this one. So I dove into the bible looking for something that struck a nerve in me. All I kept seeing and going back to was like a child, you got to be like a child and have child like faith. Ok I think I can work with this.

We arrived at the crusade site and the praise and worship was already going on and again it was good. You could still feel the Holy Spirit from this morning just hanging out, Oh Yea. During the worship I was trying to go over in my head what I was going to preach when all of a sudden we got sucker punched. There was a woman that came for prayer and she was waiting for us in the church building. They said she had cancer and I thought to myself no problem I can do this. What happened next I don't know if I ever will forget this moment? The lady showed us the cancer; I will not go into details but all I can say, my faith was tested. I thought to myself how can I go preach now feeling like I have no faith now? Well not for her, but then I got a good look at her eyes and the deep desperation that was in her. So I sucked it up and started to pray with the others that gathered around to pray for her. I could feel the compassion of the Father for her, but the gift of faith sure would have been nice. It was like the Holy Spirit was telling me, "faith you want to preach faith? Well try this one on for size." Like I said it was hard praying after what I had seen, but God is way bigger and this is all about Him and His kingdom. When we finished praying she said the pain was all gone and she felt like something was happening to her. Thank you Jesus

Now it was time to go up onto the stage and bring the word on faith after that test. So there I went fully trusting in God. I'm not sure what all I said and I know I chased few rabbits. Then all of a sudden God had me change directions. He moved me into a salvation message. It was a bit choppy but I got the point across. I gave an altar call and I would say at least 80% received Jesus as Lord and Savior. Then I was brought to tears when I looked out over the crowd and saw the lady with cancer come forward. Oh God, she is yours now and then out of the corner of my eye I saw the woman we had been praying for. The one with the swollen stomach that was left for dead. Her husband even came too to receive Jesus. It's like Jesus himself was saying to me "Trust me Child I know what I'm doing" Talk about being rocked. This faith stuff sure will stretch you.

Now it was time to release some words of knowledge and start praying for healing again. As the crowd formed up front I called for all the pastors that were in the conference now it was time for their faith to be tested. They dove right into it and miracles were just popping. They were so excited to see God use them in this way and to see the impartation worked. I didn't pray for any one this evening I just let them have all the fun, so I ran the camera. The best part of that was I got to see and film all the testimonies. There were blind eyes that were healed and deaf ears opened. A bunch of tumors disappeared instantly, and all kinds of pains healed. The thing that really made my night was seeing the woman (the one with the stomach thing) she left the crusade on her own power. She walked out and got on the back of a motorcycle and road off into the dusk. One of the pastors told me that she said she felt strong and knew God healed her. Wow what a night. My advice to you would be... Be careful what you preach you might just get called to the mat on it. Thanks to every one praying for us. Blessings 😊

Tony:

This evening was awesome; I just can't tell you a lot. Casey hit a home run and most of the people here tonight received salvation. This was such an awesome day; I am still vibrating from the power release. I spent almost the whole night helping the pastors as they did all the praying. They were absolutely beaming with excitement as the truth of Jesus The Healer was being solidified in their hearts. Everything from total blindness to deaf ears opened to cripples now walking to watching more tumors disappear right before our eyes. What an awesome day. We ended the night with the little children trying to rub the hair off my head, some of the folks we prayed for that received miracles crying as we were departing knowing that this was our last meeting here to this story:

I just gotta share this one with you. As I was heading out a man ran up to me and said "let's dance!" He was drunk, so I knew my chicken dance wouldn't bother him. He took a quick liking to me because I showed him love and when I hugged him he melted. He then took my hand and said come and meet my second wife. He led me over to a woman that had a massive healing tonight and was so happy. I asked, "Did your first wife die?" He said, "what are you saying, no, she is still my wife!" I said, what? He said I have two others also. I have 4 wives. I said, you live with 4 women right now. He said yes, but has to make up a monthly schedule so they all get equal time. I asked him if he could pray for me...

We love you all and are so grateful for your prayer support.